

Choosing a Location for a Medical Center

By: Breeann Flesch

The Question:

Where is the best location to place a new medical center in the state of Colorado during a pandemic?

Considerations for Communities:

- Population Density
- Density of Medical Centers
- Percent of Folks of Color
- Percent of Folks 50 and over
- Gender Breakdown

Definitions of communities that did not work:

Community definition that we used

Total Population by Community

Percent of Medical Centers by Community

Percent of People of Color by Community

Percent of Population 50 and over by Community

Conclusion:

Southeast Denver Metro Area is the best location for a new medical center:

- Second lowest percentage of medical centers per population, indicating a real need for access to medicine.
  - Highest percentage of folks of color and folks 50 and over, indicating that this virus could cause much damage in this area.
  - Second most populated area within our communities.
